2003 Large-Format Bookings Yearbook

Films and bookings of 2002

Last year saw a record number of new LF releases—21—including six from major Hollywood studios. One might have expected that this glut of new films would have continued the trends in bookings we have been reporting for the past five years: declining average booking lengths, increased number of films per theater, and therefore, reduced per-theater revenues to distributors.

And yet, our analysis of the bookings data indicates that the first two trends have slowed or halted. Average booking length increased slightly in 2002, and the average number of films per theater dropped a little. Anecdotally, most distributors are still unhappy about the falling lease rates and per-theater takes of the past several years. But the first two factors are probably too small and too slight to have had much of an effect yet.

This is LF Examiner's fifth annual look at the LF bookings of the past year. We collect information from LF distributors every month and from theaters in annual surveys to amass our extensive bookings database. This year's report is based on 1,796 bookings of 118 films in 311 theaters that occurred in 2002.

The average booking length in 2002 was 199 days, up marginally from the 2001 average of 197. As the table below indicates, this is the first upward movement in the five years we've been collecting and tabulating data. (See the note at the end for details of our statistical methods.)

Bookings Started in	Average length	% change	Number Counted
1997	301		287
1998	249	-17.3	443
1999	213	-14.5	508
2000	211	-0.9	671
2001	197	-6.6	885
2002	199	1.0	913

Chart 1 illustrates the trend by tracking the numbers of bookings that started in each month of the last six years. The downward trend of previous years seems to be leveling off.

Readers with more than a couple of years in the LF industry will recall that until the theater building boom of the late 1990s the total number of films available was relatively low, and the number of new releases each year was usually under ten. In these circumstances, theaters typically ran only one or two films at a time, and kept each on their schedule for at least six months or a year.

Since then production has increased dramatically, as has the film inventory:

Year	Films in release	New
1997	84	9
1998	91	6
1999	104	15
2000	107	12
2001	111	12
2002	119	21

We have assumed in previous Yearbooks that one factor responsible for shortening bookings was the increasing number of films available to theaters. This would have led one to expect that 2002, with a record 21 new films, would have had an even lower average. But the average actually increased slightly. Furthermore, if not for the effects of the six Hollywood films (Beauty and the Beast, Ultimate X, Apollo 13, Star Wars Episode II, Treasure Planet, and The Lion King), all of whose runs were four months or less, the average booking length would have leapt to 225 days, well above 1999's mean.

It is not clear how to interpret this. The Hollywood films typically required a nearly exclusive commitment, leaving relatively few slots for other films. It could be that theaters that booked the Hollywood films, particularly those in institutions, compensated for the brevity of those runs by keeping other films longer. Thus, instead of running, say, four films for six months each, they may have showed a Hollywood film for four months and three other films for eight. However, bookings of traditional LF films that overlapped a studio film would have seen dramatically reduced numbers of screenings during the run of the Hollywood title. Thus, nominally longer bookings would not necessarily mean a corresponding increase in revenues to distributors.

This theory is supported by the observation that the average number of films per theater, which had been increasing for the past few years, declined slightly in 2002:

Average films per theater

1997	4.3
1998	4.9
1999	5.2
2000	4.9
2001	5.8
2002	5.7

In 2001, the percentage of theaters that showed ten or more films in the course of the year was over 18%. But in 2002 that percentage dropped to 13%: 42 out of 313 theaters counted. (Table 1 on page 2 shows the list of theaters that ran five or more shows last year.)

Films and distributors

As noted in the count of bookings for the year on page 24, a traditional LF film, Space Station, beat out all of the Hollywood films for most bookings, with 106. However, The Lion King came in a close second with 101, and Beauty and the Beast ran third with 97. In fact, Hollywood produced five of the top 12 films (in bookings counts) in 2002. The only studio film outside the top 12 was Apollo 13, which was only released to 23 theaters in its initial run.

Mysteries of Egypt is still running strong, with 74 bookings in its fifth year, and Human Body, in its second year, came in fifth with 70. Shackleton's Antarctic Adventure garnered 58 bookings, tying Star Wars Episode II for sixth place. Two-year-old Journey Into Amazing Caves tied newcomer Ultimate X with 46 each.

Table 2 on page 4 shows the number of different theaters that have shown all films released since 1997. Unlike the count on page 24 (and all of our regular monthly bookings counts), this list does not count return engagements at the same theater as separate bookings. Recalling that as of Dec. 31, 2002, there were 361 LF theaters worldwide, this table gives a picture of each film's market penetration.

Everest, Mysteries of Egypt, and T-Rex sit on the podium in this race, with 187, 179, and 153 theaters each. (Everest could actually be higher, because some Japanese bookings may not have been reported.) Another seven titles have topped the 100 mark, only one of which, The Lion King, is a Hollywood entry.

Table 4 depicts the competition among LF distributors over the past five years, and is sorted by number of bookings in 2002. Unsurprisingly, Imax Corp. leads the list with 461 bookings of 31 titles. Less expected is the fall of MacGillivray Freeman Films from its traditional second place all the way to fifth. This is mainly because the company did not have a new release in 2002. Buena Vista, with 283 bookings of four films in 2002, takes the second spot, and Destination Cinema, on the strength of Lewis & Clark and Mysteries of Egypt, comes in third, with 189 bookings of 12 films. nWave Pictures follows closely with 176 bookings of seven films, ahead of MacGillivray's 159 bookings of 11 films.

Decline in production

Two years ago we predicted that the financial troubles of the LF industry might reduce the amount of new production. This forecast seemed to have been invalidated by 2002's record number of new films, but now it seems we may merely have been a year too early.

At this moment, only 20 LF films are in production, compared to 25 at this time last year. Only 14 films are expected to open this year, compared to 21 last year. The 14 do not include two as-yet unnamed DMR projects that Imax has promised, but even on this score, expectations seem to be dropping. Imax executives forecast as many as six DMR-processed films a year when they unveiled the system last spring, and although they continue to say that they are in discussions with "virtually every major studio," no new projects have been announced in more than six months. Rumor has it that a DMR'ed Spider-Man was to have opened on July 4 but was subsequently scratched.

Disney may also be retrenching its LF plans. The Young Black Stallion, which was set for a September 2003 premiere, has been pushed back to Christmas time, and the LF re-release of Aladdin, which had been in the holiday slot, may simply disappear. Although Birds of Prey, currently in production, is nearly complete and will no doubt be released on schedule in 2004, some observers believe that Disney may be looking at the diminishing returns of its repurposed animated LF films and rethinking the strategy. The progression (which can be seen graphically in chart 2) was:

	Bkgs	Gross
Fantasia	85	$89.3 M
Beauty	97	$30.1 M
Lion King	102	$15.9 M (10 weeks)

Considering that The Lion King was the most popular animated film of all time, the company must be disappointed that three months into its LF run it has grossed only slightly more than half of Beauty and the Beast's total take.

Of course, the rest of the LF production and distribution community would not be dismayed to see fewer Disney or DMR films. The industry's traditional filmmakers, who have been struggling to achieve profitability for years, would welcome a less crowded slate. The cutthroat competition of the last several years has lowered lease rates and per-theater grosses, while production costs have steadily inched upwards. Fewer films might make LF film leasing more of a seller's market and boost filmmakers' revenues.

Unlike the conventional film industry, in which the quantity of current releases is essentially static, with new films pushing out an equal number of older titles, the evergreen nature of many LF films means the inventory keeps expanding. This is good for theaters but can be hard on distributors. Theaters have great deal of choice, and when times get tough they can fall back on old favorites that typically have much lower lease rates than this year's newest film.

There are some indications that the pool of distributors is contracting. Several producer/distributors made only one film and show no signs of making more, such as the producers of Majestic White Horses, Extreme, Ski to the Max, and others. Sony Pictures Classics, Large Format is in a maintenance phase, tending to Cirque du Soleil and four older titles, but with no plans for new production. Most of the larger distributors are willing to take on outside titles for newcomers or to acquire older properties that still have some life left in them. Thus we can probably expect shrinkage and consolidation in distribution to match the falloff in production. But it will take some time to see if market forces can turn around the decline in lease rates.

As we pointed out in the January and February 2003 issues, which focused on films and theaters, respectively, the future of LF is cloudier today than it has ever been. Film production is down, theater growth is down, attendance is static at best. Imax Corp. is staking a great deal on growth in the multiplex market, and on repurposing Hollywood features. This in turn has created controversy, especially among European theaters (see "Euromax Opposes Imax's DMR," LFX February 2003). The next several months will provide some signs of how successful Imax will be in courting the studios, and how well DMR films perform. It will be another year or more before we see whether the films have led to new theaters.

Institutional theaters are seeing moderate improvements in attendance, but in part this is because the previous year against which they are comparing included the post-Sept. 11, 2001, fallout. Imminent war is unlikely to help them, or indeed anyone in the LF industry. However, museums and science centers are stable and permanent organizations, and will remain the core of the LF industry, even if in the future they no longer form the majority of its screens.

Note

The average booking lengths referred to in this article were calculated by combining contiguous listings (which are shown as separate entries in our regular bookings lists) and excluding from the count

- Bookings that started before the year being averaged;

- Films for which we did not have precise start and end dates;
- Film festival screenings;
- School bookings (films shown irregularly to school groups, but which are not on the regular public schedule);
- Certain destination films with extremely long runs at their home theaters;
- Bookings in theaters that opened after Jan. 1, 2002.

This left 931 records from which we calculated the average booking lengths in days, based on the starting date of the booking.

Bookings: 2002 by Film

1,796 bookings of 118 films at 311 theaters

The data on the following pages are not warranted to be comprehensive or accurate in every detail, despite our best efforts to make them so. They have been compiled from surveys of LF theaters, distributors, the world wide web, and other sources.

We will make every effort to improve the thoroughness, accuracy, and usefulness of these data. If your theater or film is not shown here, please get in touch with us to update our listings.

Where a date is not shown, it means that no date was provided by the source or, in the case of a closing date, that no date has been set, or that the run is indefinite.

The key to film abbreviations is on page 20.
